THE WORLDWIDE NAME FOR QUALITY

BA 9000

A Standard for Body Armor & the needs of Criminal Justice Agencies

BA 9000 certification*

REGISTRARS, INC.

BA 9000

BA 9000 is the result of a collaborative team assembled by the National Institute of Justice (NIJ) to address the issue of body armor safety and the needs of criminal justice agencies. Not only was the BA 9000 standard developed, the body armor quality management standard, but the collaboration determined that more frequent and extensive as well as environmental testing should be required.

BA 9000, released in January 2012, is an extension of ISO 9001, a popular quality management standard. Manufacturers who wish to become BA 9000 certified must comply with additional requirements beyond ISO 9001 that are specific to ballistics-resistant body armor manufacturing and testing. While this standard is voluntary, it is recommended by the NIJ. The following are some key points:

- Manufacturers must provide procedures for communicating with the Compliance Testing Program (CTP).
- Manufacturers must provide unique identification for each piece of the body armor to ensure accountability.
- Work areas must be managed in order to reduce negative effects on body armor.
- Product testing must be done at CTP approved labs, which need to be ISO 17025 compliant.

Who Needs BA 9000 Certification?

BA 9000 extends to manufacturers of body armor vests for federal, state, local, and tribal law enforcement and corrections bodies. PJR was the first registrar in the world to achieve BA 9000 accreditation through ANAB.

What Benefits Are There To Achieving BA 9000 Certification?

While certification to BA 9000 is not mandated or regulatory, there are some clear benefits. These include:

- Reduced Testing – For manufacturers who are BA 9000 certified, testing frequency can be reduced by half.
- Competitive Advantage – Certification to a standard such as BA 9000 is an indicator of dedication to quality. This can prove an advantage in an industry where quality could be the difference between life and death.
